Find the artwork of Esther Krinitz. Esther used embroidery to make her life story into 36 fabric pictures. Embroidery is a form of art that involves decorating different materials such as fabric by using a needle and thread.

a. Name one picture that has an animal in it.

b. Find and name another artist who also uses embroidery.

Many Visionary Artists use everyday objects in their artwork. Find the artwork of Venessa German. Vanessa makes sculptures out of everyday objects. Can you name five everyday objects that you might see around your house or school?

1.
2.
3.
4.
5.
Adding humor to a story can be fun and can make people laugh. Art can be humorous, too. Find a piece of artwork that makes you laugh, and draw a picture of it below!

Stories don’t always come from a book. Find the artwork of P. Nosa. P. Nosa asks people to create their own stories in just 5 words or less. Using his special solar-powered bike, he then creates a picture based on these stories. If P. Nosa were here today, what story would you tell him to create? Remember: 5 words or less!

__________________________________________________________________________________________________

__________________________________________________________________________________________________

Name the artists that use mostly materials found in nature, such as moss, acorns, and rocks.

__________________________________________________________________________________________________
Find the Possum Trot Theater. Calvin and Ruby Black created puppets to attract customers to their rock shop in the middle of the desert. Some of the puppets were based on real people, and were given names. What is the name of the puppet on display in the Possum Trot Theater?

Mars Tokyo creates tiny stories that she describes as Theaters of the 13th Dimension. Each theater tells a different story. Think about the story that you would create in your own tiny theater. Draw a picture of what it would look like in the space to the left. Think about your characters and the environment they are in.

When you are finished, give your theater a title.